Ortona 1943: A Bloody Christmas is a TLN exclusive and the Canadian premiere of a harrowing documentary showcasing the ferocity of the Canadian troops in a battle that would ultimately become their legacy. Deemed the bloodiest and fiercest of the Italian campaign during World War Two, Ortona was the culmination of the fighting on the Adriatic front in Italy during "Bloody December" and was considered among Canada's greatest achievements marking the dissolution of German resistance in Italy.

Documentary, 120mins - Italian Language
Friday November 14 at 8pm/et

With Europe liberated on January 27, 1945, Primo Levi, author of the world-famous If This Is a Man, was released from the Auschwitz concentration camp. It took him ten months, dozens of detours, and thousands of miles to get back to his home in Torino, Italy. Sixty years later, director Davide Ferrario and writer Marco Belpoliti follow the same itinerary through contemporary, post-communist Europe in this stunning and moving trip through history and geography in Primo Levi's Journey.

SICILY: THE BLESSED LAND (Sicilia, la Terra Benedetta)
3 Part Documentary Series, 60mins - Italian Language
Thursday November 20, 27 and December 4 at 9pm/et

There is a belief that Sicily was once the favoured land of ancient gods. A beautiful land, caressed by the seas and blessed with lush vegetation. During the 1950's, southern Italy was abandoned by at least one-quarter of the hard-working people who set their sights on the New World. Sicily: The Blessed Land takes to the villages and small towns of Racalmuto, Siculiana, Delia, Termini Imerese, San Fratello, Cattolica Eraclea, and Barrafranca, birth places of many Italian-Canadians. Today these same places, where time did not stand still, there is comfort, prosperity and even luxury, a new modern Sicily that despite the transformation, remains the island of the sun, blessed with history, culture and warm people full of hospitality.
